

People who live in Orkney who fulfil any of the following criteria will be considered for NHS funded IVF treatment. The eligibility criteria are re-applied for each treatment cycle e.g. if the woman reaches the age of 40 or if the total number of transfers reaches three or if a child becomes part of the couple's family then the couple become ineligible for further cycles, however, the upper age limit should not apply for replacement of frozen embryos which were created from previous treatment occurring before 40th birthday.

- Couples with infertility of diagnosed cause of any duration for which assisted conception represents effective treatment e.g. male factor, damaged or blocked tubes, major degree of endometriosis.

Or

- Couples with unexplained infertility of at least three years duration.

Or

- Couples where the woman is unable to produce their own eggs or who have a medical condition requiring treatment that will make them sterile.

Couples must also meet the following criteria:

- Where the female partner is aged less than 40 years at time of treatment.
- Where neither partner has previously undergone a sterilisation procedure.
- have no child living with them in their home.
- Couples who have had less than two previous embryo transfers (including cycles obtained privately).

Number of cycles funded by Orkney Health Board

Couples meeting the above eligibility criteria should be entitled to a maximum of three NHS funded cycles of assisted conception. Each couple is entitled to three full cycles of down-regulation, ovarian stimulation, egg recovery and embryo transfer. Following each cycle a full review of the outcomes will be discussed. If it is decided the treatment is unlikely to benefit the couple further treatment will not be provided/offered.

If couples meet the criteria and are accepted onto the programme all drugs required will be paid for by Orkney Health Board.

Couples with three or more frozen embryos available following their first cycle must have transfer of frozen embryos prior to any further fresh cycles.

An unsuccessful cycle not reaching the stage of egg recovery because of failure of stimulation need not count as one of a couple's three cycles.

An unsuccessful cycle not reaching the stage of embryo transfer because of failure of fertilisation need not count as one of the couple's three cycles.

An unsuccessful cycle not reaching the stage of embryo transfer because of a considered risk of OHSS need not count as one of the couple's three cycles.

Once accepted onto the assisted conception programme couples are permitted to undergo successive cycles within their own time frame.
